in this story a foolish emperor and his frightened court are duped into believing he is wearing the finest clothing that can only be seen by those who are smart or fit for office this book addresses the relationships between fashion women and power one of the constants within the book is to question the enduring relationship between women and dress and how these inform and articulate the ways in which women remain represented as either suitable or not for public office and their behaviour is informed through dress when they are in power the book critiques the interplays between politics power class race and expectation in relation to the everyday practice of getting dress and the more performative and symbolic function of dress as embodiment as never before women are in positions of political power and find themselves facing the maelstroms of mass media regarding their fashion their deportment and their right to govern the contributors offer a wide set of perspectives on women and their roles and their fashions when taking up powerful positions in australia new zealand united kingdom and the united states from the united kingdom the historical issues surrounding the movement towards rational dress for women seeking their rights to vote and exercise are interrogated the volume also explores viewpoints from east asia such as the constricting role for common women upon entering the imperial family in japan from the united states come the troublesome media stories engulfing two significant american democratic first ladies hillary rodham clinton and michelle obama from new zealand the media reports on prime minister jacinda ardern upon her motherhood while serving in the office and on her clothing during the 2019 christchurch massacre comprise a much needed contribution to the literature on women politics and dress further the role of dress in politics broadly as a form of resistance will be examined in australia from recent skirmishes over appropriate dress with ex prime minister julia gillard and other australian female politicians the role of women and what their fashion selections mean continues via considerable debate during worldwide events finally the theme of resistance and social media continues with an examination of protest dressing in the recent street battles in hong kong to how young asian women have been influenced by the social media campaigns to encourage wearing the veil in indonesia to asian women negotiating femininity in political dress primary readership will be among researchers scholars educators and students in the fields of fashion dress studies women and gender studies and media and history it will be of particular value as at graduate level and as a supplementary resource there may be some general appeal to those with an interest in the women or cultures at the centre of the discussions since its early days of mass production in the 1850s the sewing machine has been intricately connected with the global development of capitalism andrew gordon traces the machine's remarkable journey into and throughout japan where it not only transformed manners of dress but also helped change patterns of daily life class structure and the role of women as he explores the selling buying and use of the sewing machine in the early to mid twentieth century gordon finds that its history is a lens through which we can examine the modern transformation of daily life in japan both as a tool of production and as an object of consumer desire the sewing machine is entwined with the emergence and ascendance of the middle class of the female consumer and of the professional home manager as defining elements of Japanese modernity
