a french string quartet traveling from san francisco to their next engagement in san diego is diverted to standard island standard island is an immense man made island designed to travel the waters of the pacific ocean the wealth of residents of the island can only be measured in millions the quartet is hired to play a number of concerts for the residents during their tour of the islands sandwich cook society etc of the south pacific the island seems an idyllic paradise however it is an island divided in two the left half's population is led by jem tankerdon and is known as the larboardites the right half's population is led by nat coverley and is known as the starboardites despite the obstacles encountered on their journey the two parties have a disagreement that threatens the future of the island itself

one's search can sometimes go from one extreme to another and my fellows start off on our voyage researching a lost culture that had evolved at the eye of Africa in Mauritania when the Sahara had dried at the end of the Holocene maximum the peoples of the western part of the Saharan savanna had congregated here and by a nearby river to escape the desert much like what happened in Egypt in the Eastern Sahara these people gathered here evolved their own culture and started to sail out into the Atlantic finding the North Atlantic Gyre becoming adept seafarers what we found was that more drying and other disasters struck this culture causing them to increasingly take to the sea and evolving floating islands in their dwindling rivers delta in the end these islands took completely to the sea along with the entire culture becoming seaborne what became clear to us from following the trail of this culture to Bermuda the Azores and Madeira was that they had moved their floating islands to the calm waters of the Sargasso Sea building of floating culture here we find that this oceanic culture had had contact with the Bronze Age cultures of the Eastern Mediterranean and been part of the trade network that sustained the Bronze Age cultures this oceanic culture built on floating islands in the middle of the world ocean had been the basis of the myth of a great ocean kingdom that disappeared in a cataclysmic disaster thus being the actual Atlantis described by Plato finally we uncover that there is a clear connection between the fall of this culture of Atlantis and the sea peoples that arrived in the Eastern Mediterranean during the Bronze Age collapse

This book is a unique treasury of information about one of nature's marvels floating islands. Its bibliography contains more than 1,500 citations of books and articles in 20 languages on the subject. The entries are annotated and cross-referenced and there are both thematic and geographic indices. All aspects of floating islands are addressed.

The Floating Island, the first volume in Elizabeth Haydon's critically acclaimed The Lost Journals of Ven Polypheme series for middle grade readers, is now available with a stunning new cover. Charles Magnus Ven Polypheme, known as Ven, is the youngest son of a long line of famous shipwrights. He dreams not of building ships but of sailing them to far-off lands where magic thrives. Ven gets his chance when he is chosen to direct the inspection of his family's latest ship and sets sail on the journey of a lifetime. Attacked by fire pirates, lost at sea and near death, Ven is rescued by a passing ship on its way to the Island of Serendair. Thankful to be alive, little does Ven know that the pirate attack and his subsequent rescue may not have been an accident. Shadowy figures are hunting for the famed floating island, the only source of the mystical water of life they think Ven can lead them to. This treasure and will stop at nothing to get it, even murder.
