one of the greatest examples of a truly successful life we have in scripture is joshua throughout exodus numbers and deuteronomy joshua is described as moses minister he was always following the example and leadership of moses the man god appointed to lead the children of israel out of egypt and into canaan joshua was then chosen to succeed moses as the new leader of israel and bring them into the promised land joshua was not chosen because of a royal lineage or his status in nobility he had neither of these he was chosen i believe because of some very key character qualities that he had and these characteristics brought god s blessing and success in his life and in the lives of those around him as we look at his life there is an awesome statement said about him in the middle of the book of joshua this statement is the basis of this book as the lord commanded moses his servant so did moses command joshua and so did joshua he left nothing undone of all that the lord commanded moses joshua 11 15 notice that part i put in bold he left nothing undone this was not his assessment neither was it the assessment of his peers this is the observation that god made and recorded for us joshua s testimony was that of accomplishing everything that he was supposed to do as we look at this thought of leaving nothing undone i am not suggesting that you can do everything that you want to do or everything that others want you to do i am saying that when you find what god wants you to do develop the right character and work in god s strength you can do everything that god wants you to do in this book samson uytanlet states his observation that there is an unnecessary disjunction between luke s theology and literature in previous studies on luke acts luke s theology is typically studied in light of jewish writings while luke s literature is studied in relation with greco roman works the author shows that there are theological literary and ideological elements that ancient greco roman and jewish writings share which are also present in luke s work in areas where they diverge however luke acts shows closer affinity to jewish writings this volume challenges the assumptions that modern readers tend to make about four of the hebrew bible s most prominent heroes using a form of reader response theory kissing examines the assumption that these characters are primary vehicles of the narrator s point of view in three of the four cases it is concluded that traditional idealistic assumptions do not do justice to the textual evidence in its final form the work calls upon the reader to consider the subtlety of the means used in portraying these heroes and gives evidence for the decidedly negative aspects in their portrayals joshua is the one who finished the assignment which moses started moses brought the israelites out of the egyptian bondage but it was joshua who actually led them into the land of promise canaan joshua led the children of israel across the jordan into the land of the canaanites by the power and help of god they fought their battles and won their enemies and joshua divided their inheritance and possessions among them god was with joshua all the days of his life and he led the israelites by the way of the lord god directed him and gave him different instructions at different times god also did great signs and wonders through joshua
