winner of the english pen writers in translation award long listed for the 2013 frank o connor international short story award book of the month in the skinny a soldier with the ability to predict the future finds himself blackmailed by an insurgent into the ultimate act of terror a deviser of crosswords survives a car bomb attack only to discover he is now haunted by one of its victims fleeing a robbery a baghdad shopkeeper falls into a deep hole at the bottom of which sits a djinni and the corpse of a soldier from a completely different war from legends of the desert to horrors of the forest blasim s stories blend the fantastic with the everyday the surreal with the all too real taking his cues from kafka his prose shines a dazzling light into the dark absurdities of iraq s recent past and the torments of its countless refugees the subject of this his second collection is primarily trauma and the curious strategies human beings adopt to process it including of course fiction the result is a masterclass in metaphor a new kind of story telling forged in the crucible of war and just as shocking at first you receive blasim with the kind of shocked applause you d award a fairly transgressive stand up you re quite elated then you stop reading it at bedtime at his best blasim produces a corrosive mixture of broken lyricism bitter irony and hyper realism which topples into the fantastic and the quotidian in the same reading moment m john harrison perhaps the best writer of arabic fiction alive the guardian bolano esque in its visceral exuberance and also borgesian in its gnomic complexity a master of metaphor the guardian the 2003 iraq invasion provoked an unprecedented phenomenon in the iraqi literary scene fiction exceeds poetry in production critical reception and market figures new narrative genres concerned with stories of wars and trauma depict corporality and sexuality in their most material sense writing through the body argues that interest in the physical indicates a new perception of corporeality and to show this it traces a genealogy of the iraqi body to uncover the complexity of its historical and socio political discourses considering religious social and political factors the body is examined in three semiospheres iraqi society and culture before 2003 the discourse of the war on terror as a semiotic interference and contemporary iraqi fiction as the result of the encounter between the two this structure shows how corporeality was interrupted by and instrumentalised in war propaganda and how new representations in fiction respond to the two spheres in conflict a blistering debut that does for the iraqi perspective on the wars in iraq and afghanistan what phil klay's redeployment does for the american perspective a wonderful collection george saunders the new york times book review the first major literary work about the iraq war from an iraqi perspective by an explosive new voice hailed as perhaps the best writer of arabic fiction alive the guardian the corpse exhibition shows us the war as we have never seen it before here is a world not only of soldiers and assassins hostages and car bombers refugees and terrorists but also of madmen and prophets angels and djinni sorcerers and spirits blending shocking realism with flights of fantasy the corpse exhibition offers us a pageant of horrors as haunting as the photos of abu ghraib and as difficult to look away from but shot through with a gallows humor that yields an unflinching comedy of the macabre gripping and hallucinatory this is a new kind of storytelling forged in the crucible of war this collection showcases a multivalent approach to the study of literary multilingualism embodied in contemporary nordic literature while previous approaches to literary multilingualism have tended to take a textual or authorship focus this book advocates for a theoretical perspective which reflects the multiplicity of languages in use in contemporary literature emerging from increased globalization and transnational interaction drawing on a multimodal range of examples from contemporary nordic literature these eighteen chapters illustrate the ways in which multilingualism is dynamic rather than fixed resulting from the interactions between authors texts and readers as well as between literary and socio political institutions the book highlights the processes by which borders are formed within the production circulation and reception of literature and in turn the impact of these borders on issues around cultural linguistic and national belonging introducing an innovative approach to the study of multilingualism in literature this collection will be of particular interest to students and researchers in literary studies cultural studies and multilingualism the open access version of this book available at taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a creative commons attribution non commercial no derivatives cc by nc nd 4.0 license
