in this reader friendly guide Markus Bockmuehl offers a sympathetic account of the ancient apocryphal gospel writings showing their place within the reception history and formation of what was to become the canonical fourfold gospel Bockmuehl begins by helping readers understand the early history behind these noncanonical gospels before going on to examine dozens of specific apocryphal texts he explores the complex oral and intertextual relationships between the noncanonical and canonical gospels maintaining that it is legitimate and instructive to read the apocryphal writings as an engagement with the person of Jesus that both presupposes and supplements the canonical narrative outline appropriate for pastors and nonspecialists this work offers a fuller understanding of these writings and their significance for biblical interpretation in the church this is a work of historical fiction about the earliest days of Christianity recently several non canonical documents have been discovered which describe a Christianity in which Jesus although a holy man was human and married to Mary Magdalene with which he had children some of these documents including the Gospel of John precede the canonical gospels which were written much later it wasn't until the Council of Nicaea in 325 CE that the Roman Emperor Constantine chose to unite his empire under the Pauline form of Christianity and to negate banish exile and cause to be burned at the stake those who believed in pre Pauline Christianity the Emperor of Rome was no more qualified to decide which form of Christianity is true than anyone else history has proven that he is indeed qualified to determine which branch of Christianity he chose to unite his empire

Jewish Christianity is a contested category in current research but for precisely this reason it may offer a powerful lens through which to rethink the history of Jewish Christian relations traditionally Jewish Christianity has been studied as part of the origins and early diversity of Christianity collecting revised versions of previously published articles together with new materials Annette Yoshiko Reed reconsiders Jewish Christianity in the context of late antiquity and in conversation with jewish studies she brings further attention to understudied texts and traditions from late antiquity that do not fit neatly into present day notions of christianity as distinct from judaism in the process she uses these materials to probe the power and limits of our modern assumptions about religion and identity an international team of twenty scholars under edmondo f lupieri s direction produced mary magdalene from the new testament to the new age and beyond while the historical figure of the magdalene may be lost forever the construction of her literary images and their transformations and adaptations over the centuries are a lively testimony to human creativity and faith different pictures of mary travelled through time and space from history to legend and mythology crossed religious boundaries going beyond the various christianities to become a sign of contradiction for many this book describes a special case of biblical reception history that of the new testament figure of a woman whose presence at the side of jesus has been disturbing for some but proves to be inspiring for others this interdisciplinary volume of text and art offers new insights into various unsolved mysteries associated with mary magdalene mary of bethany mary the mother of jesus and miriam the sister of moses mariamic traditions are often interconnected as seen in the portrayal of these women as community leaders prophets apostles and priests these traditions also are often inter religious echoing themes back to miriam in the hebrew bible as well as forward to maryam in the qur an the chapters explore questions such as which biblical mary did the author of the gospel of mary intend to portray magdalene mother or neither why did some writers depict mary of nazareth as a priest were extracanonical scriptures featuring mary more influential than the canonical gospels on the depiction of maryam in the qur an contributors dig deep into literature iconography and archaeology to offer cutting edge research under three overarching topics the first section examines the question of which mary and illustrates how some ancient authors and contemporary scholars may have conflated the biblical marys the second section focuses on mary of nazareth and includes research related to the portrayal of mary the mother of jesus as a eucharistic priest the final section recovering receptions of mary in art archeology and literature explores how artists and authors have engaged with one or more of the marys from the early christian era through to medieval and modern times jesus and the manuscripts by popular author and bible scholar craig a evans introduces readers to the diversity and complexity of the ancient literature that records the words and deeds of jesus this diverse literature includes the familiar gospels of the new testament the much less familiar literature of the rabbis and of the qur an and the extracanonical narratives and brief snippets of material found in fragments and inscriptions this book critically analyzes important texts and quotations in their original languages and engages the current scholarly discussion evans argues that the gospel of thomas is not early or independent of the new testament gospels but that it should be dated to the late second century he also argues that secret mark like the recently published gospel of jesus wife is probably a modern forgery of special interest is the question of how long the autographs of new testament writings remained in circulation evans argues that the evidence suggests that most of these autographs remained available for copying and study for more than one hundred years and thus stabilized the text key points and features written by popular author and bible scholar craig a evans includes 20 pages of high quality color photos
