increasingly european states are using policy on the reception of asylum seekers as an instrument of immigration control eg by deterring the lodging of asylum applications preventing integration into their societies and exercising a large degree of control over asylum seekers in order to facilitate expulsion the european union is currently engaged in a process of developing minimum conditions for the reception of asylum seekers as part of a common european asylum system this book critically examines the outcomes of the negotiation process on these minimum standards directive 2003 9 ec and directive 2013 33 eu in relation to international refugee law international social security law and international human rights law it presents a comprehensive analysis of state obligations that stem from these different fields of law with regard to asylum seekers access to the labour market and social security benefits and compares them to the minimum standards developed in the european union to this end it offers an in depth study into the notion of non discrimination on the basis of nationality in the field of social security and a detailed analysis of recent developments in the case law of the european court on human rights on positive obligations in the socioeconomic sphere it takes into account both the special characteristics of international legal obligations for states in the socioeconomic sphere and the legal consequences of the tentative legal status of asylum seekers in addition this book particularly examines how the instrumental use of social policy relates to international law this book constitutes the proceedings of the 4th international conference on internet science held in thessaloniki greece in november 2017 the 34 papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected for inclusion in this volume they were organized in topical sections named next generation community engagement online policy politics and co creation understanding and empowering digital citizens data driven research and design social media and online interaction this book examines the socio economic rights challenges of refugees and asylum seekers in africa it seeks to fill a major gap in the literature by providing a nuanced discussion of the barriers to the realisation of the socio economic rights of refugees and asylum seekers in africa it equally aims to provide some concrete recommendations to african governments towards the realisation of the socio economic rights of refugees and asylum seekers with the aid of lessons from selected african countries this book highlights the gaps challenges and good practices regarding the realisation of the socio economic rights of refugees and asylum seekers in the region the book will be useful to researchers students academicians policymakers and international organisations or institutions interested in advancing the rights of refugees and asylum seekers in access to courts for asylum seekers and refugees emma dunlop focuses on the scope and content of article 16 of the 1951 refugee convention under this article states are obligated to provide asylum seekers and refugees with access to courts this obligation entails a requirement to ensure effective access which may call for accommodations to be made to address individual vulnerabilities where for example a person does not speak the language of the court or lacks easy access to a lawyer it also guarantees additional rights to those who have attained habitual residence in the host country access to courts is a critical gateway right the denial of which can prevent a person from defending other rights under domestic law yet until now article 16 has not received extensive scrutiny in the first dedicated monograph on article 16 of the 1951 convention dunlop positions the article within the broader context of international human rights law customary international law and general principles of law presenting a comprehensive account of asylum seekers and refugees right of access to courts taking an evolutionary approach to treaty interpretation the book interrogates the scope and content of the article evaluating the extent of its obligations despite developments in international human rights law since the article s adoption access to courts for asylum seekers and refugees argues that it remains a relevant and robust source of protection offering rigorous and reasoned analysis of this critical provision dunlop advances a principled approach to interpreting article 16

freedom of movement is a key principle of the european union eu resulting in the right of every eu citizen to move and reside freely within the eu many eu citizens work in other member states than their member state of origin direct taxes are not as such covered in the treaties and therefore have much smaller bases for harmonization at eu level than indirect taxes as a result decisions of european court of justice ecj on the clash between the eu principle of free movement and member states direct tax rules have a significant effect on national direct tax systems this book focuses on the relation between free movement rights of eu citizens and the legal autonomy of member states in the area of direct taxation and will immediately engage tax practitioners and scholars the author asks and answers the question has the willingness at eu level to make eu citizenship a key driver behind the integration process come at the expense of national direct tax autonomy the book s incomparably thorough analysis of the distinctive evolution mainly via ecj case law of the relation between the eu principle of free movement of persons and member states direct tax rules includes in depth discussion of the following elements and more the concept of eu citizenship in the eu s constitutional and institutional development how the ecj has interpreted the concept of free movement with regard to economically inactive persons how the notion of eu citizenship has widened the ecj s view on treaty access how the ecj has addressed the clash between free movement of persons and direct taxation in the eu s constitutional context and numerous tax policy initiatives with regard to eu citizens before and after the treaty of lisbon this is the first book to investigate in such detail how the ecj has tried to reconcile specific national direct tax rules with the general eu principle of free movement of persons from the perspective of eu citizenship this book explains that the ecj is in the process of reconceptualizing the market freedoms relating to the free movement of persons also in the area of direct taxation as part of a broader eu citizenship right for all economically active eu citizens to pursue an economic activity in a cross border context a right beyond the aim of realization of the internal market as an extremely important analysis of the influence of eu law on the direct tax autonomy of member states this book is sure to be itself of great influence in the practice and study of taxation in the eu
