excerpt from the wild heart the author of this book pronounces it very simple having no literary style or value perhaps this estimate indicates modesty on her part but it is not the truth

concerning the book thoreau once wrote it takes two to speak the truth one to speak and the other to hear those of us who have made our own path through the wilds know the truth when we hear it the first law that can be laid down concerning any work worthy to be put into the hands of the public is the old law that every writer should write concerning matters of his own personal observation when ever any writer follows this old rule working with sincerity of heart with inborn insight concerning his chosen subject following the promptings of a simple human heart and using a certain facility in the choice of words which is a gift of god primarily that author must evolve good work laying down these specifications as law which governs every masterpiece that ever has been produced it will be observed that the wild heart follows them as naturally as water flows to the sea possibly as unconsciously to anyone who knows the fields and woods the book carries the conviction of truth those who do not know nature will not believe many of these statements because they have not learned that when one goes into the haunts of the wild calmly fearlessly absolutely in tune with nature one is perfectly safe the people who go to fraternize with the free creatures to learn the secrets of nature to protect to love to fellowship with the wild wear an invincible armor enos mills will tell you that he tramps the rocky mountains for weeks at a time absolutely without a weapon arthur heming will tell you that he travels canada from side to side north and south passing all kinds of wild creatures at all seasons and under any conditions and nothing touches him i can tell you that my face has been within two feet of a coiled rattlesnake ready to strike but it did not strike two minutes later a man antagonistic to the wild passed the same location and immediately the snake disclosed itself and was ready to fight about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works a timely and important new book that challenges everything we think we know about cultivating true belonging in our communities organizations and culture from the #1 bestselling author of Rising Strong, Daring Greatly, and The Gifts of Imperfection true belonging doesn't require us to change who we are it requires us to be who we are social scientist Brené Brown PhD LMsw has sparked a global conversation about the experiences that bring meaning to our lives experiences of courage vulnerability love belonging shame and empathy in Braving the Wilderness Brown redefines what it means to truly belong in an age of increased polarisation with her trademark mix of research storytelling and honesty Brown will again change the cultural conversation while mapping out a clear path to true belonging Brown argues that what we're experiencing today is a spiritual crisis of disconnection and introduces four practices of true belonging that challenge everything we believe about ourselves and each other she writes true belonging requires us to believe in and belong to ourselves so fully that we can find sacredness both in both being a part of something and in standing alone when necessary but in a culture that's rife with perfectionism and pleasing and with the erosion of civility it's easy to stay quiet hide in our ideological bunkers or fit in rather than show up as our true selves and brave the wilderness of uncertainty and criticism but true belonging is not something we negotiate or accomplish with others it s a daily practice that demands integrity and authenticity it s a personal commitment that we carry in our hearts brown offers us the clarity and courage we need to find our way back to ourselves and to each other and that path cuts right through the wilderness brown writes the wilderness is an untamed unpredictable place of solitude and searching it is a place as dangerous as it is breathtaking a place as sought after as it is feared but it turns out to be the place of true belonging and it s the bravest and most sacred place you will ever stand
