no previous author has attempted a book such as this a complete history of novels written in the english language from the genre's seventeenth century origins to the present day in the spirit of dr johnson's Lives of the Poets acclaimed critic and scholar john sutherland selects 294 writers whose works illustrate the best of every kind of fiction from gothic penny dreadful and pornography to fantasy romance and high literature each author was chosen professor sutherland explains because his or her books are well worth reading and are likely to remain so for at least another century sutherland presents these authors in chronological order in each case deftly combining a lively and informative biographical sketch with an opinionated assessment of the writer's work taken together these novelists provide both a history of the novel and a guide to its rich variety always entertaining and sometimes shocking sutherland considers writers as diverse as daniel defoe henry james james joyce edgar allan poe virginia woolf michael crichton jeffrey archer and jacqueline susann written for all lovers of fiction Lives of the Novelists succeeds both as introduction and re introduction as sutherland presents favorite and familiar novelists in new ways and transforms the less favored and less familiar through his relentlessly fascinating readings this book analyses the failure factors of democratic experiences in sub saharan africa focusing on the republic of sudan through historical comparisons it aims to further our understanding of democratic african state formation in the aftermath of colonialism the impact of military coups on undermining democracy in sub saharan africa the formation and structuring of political parties in the region and the failures and successes of popular revolutions in establishing good governance to do so the author weaves a portrait of the current state of democratic governance in sudan and the broader sub saharan region by threading primary data analysis such as expert interviews and surveyed participants of the sudanese revolution along with their personal reflections and observations on life lived in sudan arguing that the nation is in a state of political crisis the book posits that sudan marks a potent example of failing democratic institutions in sub saharan africa in the post colonial era engaging questions of language identity and reception to restore south african and diaspora writing to the african literary tradition this book sets the grounds for a new approach exploring cultural mediators as key figures in literary and cultural history it proposes an innovative conceptual and methodological understanding of the figure of the cultural mediator defined as a cultural actor active across linguistic cultural and geographical borders occupying strategic positions within large networks and being the carrier of cultural transfer many studies on translation and cultural mediation privileged the major metropolis of paris london and new york as centres of cultural production and translation however other cities and megacities that are not global centres of culture also feature vibrant translation scenes this book abandons the focus on innovative centres and imitative peripheries and follows processes of cultural exchange as they develop thus it analyses the role of cultural mediators as customs officers or smugglers or both in different proportions in so called peripheral cultures and offers insights into an under analysed body of actors and institutions promoting intercultural transfer in often multilingual and less studied venues such as trieste tel aviv buenos aires lima lahore or cape town companies and organizations everywhere cite creativity as the most desirable and elusive leadership quality of the future yet scores measuring creativity among american children have been on the wane for decades a specialist in creative leadership professor james haywood rolling jr knows firsthand that the classroom is a key to either unlocking or blocking the critical imagination he argues that today s schools with their focus on rote learning and test taking work to stymie creativity leaving children cut off from their natural impulses and boxed in by low expectations drawing on cutting edge research in the realms of biological swarm theory systems theory and complexity theory rolling shows why group collaboration and adaptive social networking make us both smarter and more creative and how we can design education and workplace practices around these natural principles instead of pushing a limited focus on individual achievement that serves neither children nor their future colleagues managers and mentors the surprising truth is that the future will be pioneered by
