this book is a thorough study about the upcoming of elite women in eritrea encompassing the time of the armed struggle for liberation as well as its aftermath up to the tenth anniversary of eritrean independence in 2001 and beyond it is a multi disciplinary study combining a comprehensive analysis of eritrean history society and political developments with extensive case study research into the lives of different groups of elite women modernisation processes created by the eritrean revolution fostered an environment in which women are regarded as equal and encouraged to occupy positions of leadership at the same time the revolution s hegemonic ideology does not envisage women opting out of its version of modernity thus new avenues open up only for those who subscribe to the revolution s narrative of progress furthermore it is argued that while the eritrean revolution played a decisive role in opening up possibilities for women s emancipation a failure to implement democratic structures of governance puts the revolution s societal achievements at risk its legacy might well rest with possibilities of personal liberation in individual lives in 1991 eritrea won a 30 year war for independence from ethiopia and in 1993 it was recognized as africa s newest nation after more than a century of conquest and occupation by a succession of external powers that included the ottomans egypt italy great britain and ethiopia each had left its mark while fostering a deep distrust of outsiders and a fierce commitment to eritrea s separate political identity eritrea and ethiopia slipped into a chronic state of no peace no war that kept the entire horn of africa off balance for nearly two decades the standoff ended in 2018 when a newly installed ethiopian prime minister reached out to eritrea and set in motion a rapid fire series of talks among the states of the african horn that broke down long standing barriers and raised hopes for a new era of regional peace and cooperation this third edition of historical dictionary of eritrea contains a chronology an introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography the dictionary section has over 600 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture this book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about eritrea though conflicts among african nations diminished at the end of the last millennium the need for peace remains a perennial concern for african citizens within their communities and countries once again maphosa and keasley have engaged a collection of scholar practitioners to address the query what s going to make a difference in contemporary peace education around africa the contributing authors draw from daily headlines as well as african literature to unearth twenty first century quandaries with which educators in formal and informal contexts are called upon to grapple the what s going to make a difference authors offer insights to educators peace education practitioners and parents for everyday living the authors probe the wisdom of the recent and ancient past and bring forth pearls for contemporary moments all in discerning effort to respond to the guiding question the editors and their contributing colleagues deliver a compelling set of revelations for making a difference in peace education for african and world citizens this volume examines the impact of the millennium development goals mdgs on africa s development post 2015 it assesses the current state of the mdgs in africa by outlining the successes gaps and failures of the state goals including lessons learned a unique feature of the book is the exposition on post mdg s agenda for africa s development chapters on poverty south south partnership aid gender empowerment health as well as governance and development explore what feasible alternative lie ahead for africa beyond the expiry date of the mdgs hodgson anthropology rutgers u presents 11 contributions by feminist scholars which challenge conventional theories of pastoralism in africa that assume a static society in which men invariably dominate the economies and political spheres major themes addressed are the ways in which pastoralist women produce items of material culture that are central to the expression elaboration and negotiation of aspects of pastoralist society gender roles and relations in domains of power such as property ownership conflict resolution and the use of the environment the mistaken conflation of patrilineality and patrilocality of pastoralism as indicators of patriarchy and the ways in which pastoralist women negotiate the many changes brought about by their encounters with the ideas practices and agents of development and society c book news inc examines war and the impact of warfare on identity formation in ethiopia images of war narratives of suffering and notions of ethnicity are intrinsically linked to western perceptions of africa filtered through a mostly international media the information of african wars is confined to narrow categories of explanation emerging from and adapted to a western history and political culture this book aims at reversing this process to look at war and suffering from the point of view of those who fight it and suffer through it indooing so it reveals that the simplistic models explaining contemporary wars in africa which are reproduced in a western discourse are basically false this book examines the understanding of war and the impact of warfare onthe formation and conceptualisation of identities in ethiopia building on historical trajectories of enemy images the recent eritean ethiopian war 1998 2000 is used as an empirical backdrop to explore war s formative impact by analysing politics of identity and shifting perceptions of enemies and allies kjetil tronvoll is professor in human rights peace and conflict studies at the norwegian centre for human rights university of oslo hisother publications include brothers at war making sense of the eritrean ethiopian war co author james currey ohio university press 2000 and the ethiopian red terror trials transitional justice challenged co editor james currey 2009

this book deals with the dimensions of ethnicity and ethnic interaction in northeast africa it proposes a mechanism to establish a condition of peaceful co existence among ethnic groups in the region contents list of tables and diagrams foreword preface acknowledgements language and ethnicity religion and ethnicity territory and ethnicity conflict history conflict management systems peace democracy and regulation of conflict references index emerging from a devastating 30 year war the new eritrean government s efforts to reconstruct its multi ethnic society and transform its economy have been hailed as a model of nation building mrg s report discusses the drawing up of a constitution which will aim to ensure a variety of rights however the question remains how far will these rights be guaranteed in practice for example how far can eritrea protect the rights of minorities and at the same time promote the unity of the state in seeking to answer these issues the report s author also examines how far the new government whose members are overwhelmingly former freedom fighters can be said to be governing for all eritrea s people the report pinpoints a series of important questions facing the government from the environment and land rights with the potential problems of scare land being given to returning refugees on the extent to which women s liberation a battle largely won by female freedom fighters will be upheld in peacetime to the challenge of seeking to ensure that the parity of minority languages is recognized in education adapted from publisher s abstract the traditional systems of land tenure and kinship in highland eritrea are today challenged by the new reform policies of the eritrean government an integral part of their development strategies is to sustain and enhance national sentiments created during the liberation war by disentangling the closely knit rural communities dismantling their corporate character and linking the individual citizen directly to the state apparatus in order to foster an all embracing notion of national identity with the resurgence of ethnic nationalism in eastern europe and the soviet union the need to bring the study of ethnicity and nationalism more closely together has become even plainer the views expressed here represent several of the main lines of enquiry in the current study of ethnicity and nationalism contents anthony d smith ethnicity and nationalism james mayall and mark simpson ethnicity is not enough reflections on protracted secessionism in the third world sammy smooaha and theodor hanf the diverse modes of conflict regulation in deeply divided societies walker connor the nation and its myth anthony d smith nationalism and the historians sylvia walby women and nation john hutchinson moral innovators and the politics of regeneration the distinctive role of cultural nationalists in nation building donald l horowitz irredentas and secessions adjacent phenomena neglected connections
