daniel w hayter explores the concept of inaugurated resurrection within earliest christianity the view that believers have experienced a present resurrection with christ in advance of their final resurrection at his return he argues that belief in inaugurated resurrection is already discernible in paul s own writings in large part due to the influence of scripture suggesting that the influence of ezekiel 36 37 on paul s understanding of the gift of the spirit helps to explain this belief paul saw inaugurated resurrection as a way of speaking of receiving the spirit hayter thus examines the reception of ezekiel 36 37 in second temple jewish literature in order to situate paul s own understanding of these chapters in the wider jewish context and follows with an extensive exploration of ezekiel 36 37 in paul s own writings he argues that paul understood ezekiel s vision of the resurrection of dry bones to have been fulfilled in the present in the gift of god s spirit to those in christ that paul s understanding of ezekiel is then brought to bear on a close exegesis of romans 6 1 14 and that paul s view of the spirit in light of ezekiel 36 37 helps to explain the strong connection between inaugurated resurrection and baptism hayter concludes that far from being non bodily inaugurated resurrection by baptism in one spirit implies incorporation into the resurrected body of christ the recognition formula you they shall know that i am yahweh is repeated more than seventy times in the book of ezekiel and yet surprisingly this refrain has not been analyzed in detail in recent research in this study john f evans attempts to uncover the literary and theological intent of the recognition formula in ezekiel by comparing it with other instances of the phrase found elsewhere in the bible complementing his analysis of the recognition formula in ezekiel evans examines its use in deuteronomy 1 kings isaiah joel and in particular exodus in addition to some strong continuities between the formula in exodus and ezekiel he finds a jarring disjunction in ezekiel the prophecy repeatedly declares that israel shall know that i am yahweh in judgment while elsewhere in scripture the formula typically sounds a positive note when spoken to god s covenant people recent years have witnessed a renewed interest in the book of ezekiel especially as a book that reflects the experience of jews in exile as parallel to their captivity in egypt prior to the exodus biblical scholars and students interested in the theology of exile and the theological reaction to the destruction of the judean state in 586 bce will find this book enlightening and useful the essays reproduced in this volume have been selected on the basis of their common theme messianism in the septuagint the aim of the papers is to answer the following basic questions does the septuagint enhance the messianic hope developed in the masoretic text does it reflect a stage in the development of israel s messianic expectations perhaps preparing for christianity and its messiah questioning a theory accepted by many scholars the author argues that the septuagint as a whole does not exhibit an increased interest in royal messianism while some texts offer literal translations others display a weakening of the royal messianic character of the translated passages or perhaps more correctly several relevant passages in the septuagint are witnesses to an earlier hebrew version in which the messianic accents were less pronounced than in the final masoretic text
