increasingly attention is being paid to recording tenure rights that are not yet recorded for example in cases where customary rights have recently been given legal recognition where new legally recognized rights have been created based on informal rights or where new fisheries rights forest rights and water rights have been created or given legal recognition in such cases there is often a need to also create a new recording system with a specific focus such as for recording forest use rights fisheries shares or water use rights or to have the recording done at an appropriate level of government or by a self governing community this guide is about extending the recording or registration of tenure rights to people who currently are not served by systems to record their rights it provides practical advice on ways to introduce a new system to record tenure rights and for the recording of rights for the first time by the state a process that is sometimes called first registration this guide is about making the recording or registration of tenure rights more relevant to people who hold those tenure rights and particularly to people who are currently poorly served by systems to record or register tenure rights it provides practical advice on ways to improve the recording of tenure rights including by addressing barriers that prevent people from using recording systems
