this book provides a series of new addresses to the enduring problem of how to categorize the fantastic the approach taken is through the lens of spatiality the fantastic gives us new worlds although of course these are refractions of worlds already in being in place of real spaces whatever they might be the fantastic gives us imaginary spaces although within those spaces historical and cultural conflicts are played out albeit in forms that stretch our understanding of everyday location and our usual interpretations of cause and effect many authors are addressed here from a variety of different geographical and national traditions thus demonstrating how the fantastic as a mode a genre a way of thinking imagining and writing continually traverses borders and boundaries we hope to move the ongoing debate about the fantastic forward in a scholarly as well as an engaging way reading illegitimacy in early iberian literature presents illegitimacy as a fluid creative and negotiable concept in early literature which challenges society's definition of what is acceptable through the medieval epic poems cantar de mio cid and mocedades de rodrigo the ballad tradition cervantes's novelas ejemplares and lope de vega's theatre geraldine hazbun demonstrates that illegitimacy and legitimacy are interconnected and flexible categories defined in relation to marriage sex bodies ethnicity religion lineage and legacy both categories are subject to the uncertainties and freedoms of language and fiction and frequently constructed around axes of quantity and completeness these literary texts covering a range of illegitimate figures some with an historical basis demonstrate that truth propriety and standards of behaviour are not forged in the law code or the pulpit but in literature's fluid system of producing meaning miguel de unamuno was profoundly influenced by s ren kierkegaard's pseudonymous works at a time when kierkegaard was virtually unknown in southern europe this book explores the scope and character of that influence clarifies misconceptions in the relationship between the authors and offers an original kierkegaardian reading of three of unamuno's best known novels niebla san manuel bueno m rtir and abel's nchez both authors hold a self as achievement view in which the authentic self is seen as the result of the choices one makes over a lifetime for kierkegaard the spheres of existence the esthetic the ethical and the religious are stages on life's way to becoming an authentic self before god unamuno however holds that the same spheres of existence offer equally valid modes of authentic existence as long as one chooses them freely and passionately this book will be of great interest to scholars of existentialism unamuno and kierkegaard
