this book opens a new research field in balkan contextual theology by embracing culturally rich traditions of the western balkans as its starting point it explores their existential and theological bearings placed at the crossroads of civilisations and religions this region has witnessed some of the worst atrocities of the 20th century at the same time it has produced unique textures of inter cultural life the volume addresses some of the most poignant phenomena endemic to the region such as sevdalinka music intimate forms of neighborhood archetypes of sacred warriors the experience of democratic jet lag collective melancholy and intergenerational trauma as the first book of this nature it aims to encourage further development of contextual theological thinking in the region and promote its international reception this volume is a multilevel and multidisciplinary study of radicalization in the balkans and mena regions it takes a dynamic approach embracing the complexity of the social political and economic contexts under study moving away from unidimensional and security centred research on the topic each chapter adopts a participatory and inclusive perspective engaging communities youth and women as significant stakeholders in building a better understanding of the dynamics of the radicalization of youth in these regions the multiple case studies presented here cover several macro drivers of radicalization to reveal the interactions and interrelations of individuals with meso institutions and backgrounds such as family neighbourhood school peer groups religious and ethnic communities political parties etc consequently the volume addresses several gaps in the literature regarding radicalization and violent extremism it is based on firm empirical evidence it allows for comparisons between social contexts in one specific country and between countries sharing macro similarities but also differences it proposes a fruitful dialogue and collaborations between academics researchers and civil society experts and finally it offers decentralized perspectives on extremism in the west this volume is an important addition to a topic that is of interest to researchers across the social sciences and to think tanks and policy makers working on in these regions the volume provides a comprehensive empirical examination of linguistic convergence in the balkans by mapping over 100 linguistic and sociolinguistic features across 60 languages and dialects the book rigorously tests the concept of a linguistic area each feature is visually represented with maps and analyzed in summaries co authored by an international team of experts in addition to the printed volume the atlas of the balkan linguistic area online enhances accessibility by offering illustrative examples for each language dataset making it an essential resource for scholars of language contact and typology written from the perspectives of regional and international participants this book explores the causes and consequences of chronic conflicts in the balkans assessing the likelihood of a region wide conflagration the contributors examine the ongoing carnage in bosnia the looming crisis over kosovo the dispute between greece and macedonia over t mixing and unmixing languages uses the politics and practices of language to understand social hierarchies and social change in a post conflict and post socialist context the book focuses on roma in prizren kosovo where the author conducted long term ethnographic fieldwork using language learning as a central method shifts in language practices among this highly multilingual group have reflected the demise of yugoslav socialism the rise of ethno nationalist politics and conflict and the post war reversal of power relations in kosovo roma in prizren nostalgically narrate a past of cosmopolitanism and employment in contrast to the present their position today is complex while they stress their relative integration this position is fragile in the face of nationalist politics and imported neoliberal economic policies within this context roma ngo workers have found an economic niche working on projects to protect multiculturalism and minorities funded by international aid agencies centred on romani language this book discusses the historical trajectory and current configurations of a romani organisation in the town the standardisation of romani and the hierarchical organisation of linguistic forms and language learning the self representation of roma and the gypsy image through romani language drama and attitudes to purism mixing and cosmopolitanism mixing and unmixing languages is suitable for academics and students in the areas of linguistic anthropology and linguistic ethnography romani studies south east european studies and sociolinguistics this volume assembles contributions addressing clausal complementation across the entire south slavic territory the main focus is on particular aspects of complementation covering the contemporary standard languages as well as older stages and or non standard varieties and the impact of language contact primarily with non slavic languages presenting in depth studies they thus contribute to the overarching collective aim of arriving at a comprehensive picture of the patterns of clausal complementation on which south slavic languages profile against a wider typological background but also diverge internally if we look closer at details in the contemporary stage and in diachronic development the volume divides into an introduction setting the stage for the single case studies an article developing a general template of complementation with a detailed overview of the components relevant for south slavic studies addressing particular structural phenomena from different theoretical viewpoints and articles focusing on variation in space and or time a complete and up to date revision of the author s the politics of the balkans dust jacket includes bibliographies the past few years have seen the re emergence of the balkans as the cockpit of europe the break up of yugoslavia the regional conflict between ethnic groups the creation of new states like slovenia and the transformation of existing ones like albania have made the area of prime importance in geopolitical terms once again reconstructing the balkans looks at the complex and rapidly changing human geography of the balkans and considers the cultural social and political geographies of the region and its neighbours it provides both an examination of the history of the balkans emphasising ethnicity and nationality issues and an evaluation of the historical and geographical roots of contemporary balkan disputes from a range of national viewpoints written by acknowledged experts in the field the book assesses some of the geographical consequences of the region s conflicts and analyses the post socialist restructuring reconstruction and reconfiguration regionwide and country by country it also gives projections of likely regional development trends this is a unique book as it represents diverse viewpoints from a wide range of ethnic national and disciplinary approaches it draws upon expertise from the usa the uk and everyone concerned with the balkan regions making it essential reading for analysts and consultants in banks funding agencies and government departments it will also be of interest to advanced students of european studies geography international relations politics development and history
