this volume bridges the divide between film and media studies scholarship by exploring audience expectations of film and tv genre in the age of digital streaming using qualitative thematic and quantitative data driven analyses through four ground breaking surveys of audience members and content creators the authors have empirically determined what audiences expect of various genres the extent to which these definitions match those of scholars and critics and the overall variation and complexity of audience expectations in the age of media abundance they also examine audience habits and preferences drawing from both theory and original empirical analyses with a view toward the implications for the moving image in a rapidly changing media environment the book draws from the data to develop a number of new concepts including genre repertoire genre hybridity audience interest maximization and variety seeking and a new stage of genre development genre bending it is an ideal resource for students and scholars interested in the symbiotic relationship between audiences and the moving image products they consume as well as the way the current digital media environment has impacted our understanding of film and tv genres beginning with the era of synchronized sound in the 1920s music has been an integral part of motion pictures whether used to heighten the tension of a scene or evoke a subtle emotional response scores have played a significant if often unrealized role in the viewer s enjoyment in the invisible art of film music laurence macdonald provides a comprehensive introduction for the general student film historian and aspiring cinematographer arranged chronologically from the silent era to the present day this volume provides insight into the evolution of music in cinema and analyzes the vital contributions of scores to hundreds of films macdonald reviews key developments in film music and discusses many of the most important and influential scores of the last nine decades including those from modern times gone with the wind citizen kane laura a streetcar named desire ben hur lawrence of arabia the godfather jaws ragtime the mission titanic gladiator the lord of the rings brokeback mountain and slumdog millionaire macdonald also provides biographical sketches of such great composers as max steiner alfred newman franz waxman bernard herrmann elmer bernstein henry mancini maurice jarre john barry john williams jerry goldsmith dave grusin ennio morricone randy newman hans zimmer and danny elfman updated and expanded to include scores produced well into the twenty first century this new edition of the invisible art of film music will appeal not only to scholars of cinema and musicologists but also any fan of film scores in this classic beginner s guide to english literature mario klarer offers a concise and accessible discussion of central issues in the study of literary texts looking at definitions of key terms such as literature and text the genres of fiction poetry drama and film periods and classifications of literature theoretical approaches to texts the use of secondary resources guidelines for writing research essays the new and expanded edition is fully updated to include a wider range of textual examples from world literature additional references to contemporary cinema a section on comparative literature an extended survey of literary periods and genres recent changes in mla guidelines information on state of the art citation management software the use and abuse of online resources the book also features suggestions for further reading as well as an extensive glossary of key terms similarly changes are visible in the doctor s image from the kindly country doctor and the earnest dr kildare to the arrogant egotists of the doctor and malice intended to be both fun and instructive the book has a lighter side that looks at clichés and stereotypes such as someone shouting boil the water when a baby is about to be delivered doctors as sex maniacs and ludicrous portrayals of surgeons directing their own abdominal operations on a more serious note the movies illustrate what the public has valued in doctoring the changing attitudes towards science and the evolution of issues that still confront and divide us assisted suicide or mercy killing abortion concerns about health care costs and impersonal high tech medicine are all in evidence two chapters deal with the virtual invisibility of women and black doctors in film
