introducing the law 7th edition was previously published by cch australia introducing the law provides students with a solid understanding of the australian legal system the 7th edition has a continued focus on tertiary legal studies and related courses it contains a broad range of topics including the legislative process and the role of courts in law making changing the law processes and institutions for settling legal disputes and a critical evaluation of the legal system this book brings together past and present law commissioners judges practitioners academics and law reformers to analyse the past present and future of the law commissions in the united kingdom and beyond its internationally recognised authors bring a wealth of experience and insight into how and why law reform does and should take place covering statutory and non statutory reform from national and international perspectives the chapters of the book developed from papers given at a conference to mark the fiftieth anniversary of the law commissions act 1965

this collection of essays arose from a conference held to mark the silver anniversary of the australian sex discrimination act 1984 the collection has two aims first to honour the contributions of both the spirited individuals who valiantly fought for the enactment of the legislation against the odds and those who championed the new law once it was passed secondly to present a stock take of the act within the changed socio political environment of the 21st century the contributors present clear eyed appraisals of the legislation in addition to considering new forms of legal regulation such as equality act and the significance of a human rights act the introduction of a proactive model which would impose positive duties on organisations is explored as an alternative to the existing individual complaint based model of legislation the contributors also pay attention to the international human rights framework particularly the convention on the elimination of all forms of discrimination against women and the un declaration on the rights of indigenous people the essays are illuminated by recourse to a rich vein of historical and contemporary literature regard is also paid to the comparative experience of other jurisdictions particularly the uk and canada new technologies and the science that created them have transformed our lives posing challenges as to how technological change can be better integrated in society recognition of these issues has led to different ways of engaging the public in the assessment and regulation of emerging technologies this book puts the subject of publics and their engagement in emerging technologies on a robust theoretical footing with a strong though not exclusive focus on genomic technologies leading theorists and practitioners in the field provide precise and clear insights into the key issues in public participation studies including ethics process and principles of knowledge distribution in democratic societies over the last 15 years privacy actions have been recognised at common law or in equity across common law jurisdictions and statutory privacy protections have proliferated apex courts are now being called upon to articulate the law governing remedies including in high profile litigation concerning phone hacking covert filming and release of personal information yet despite the practical significance of the courts approach to damages injunctions and other remedies for breach of privacy very little has been written on the topic this book comprehensively analyses these developments from a comparative perspective and provides solutions to issues which are coming to light as higher courts forge this remedial jurisprudence and practitioners look for guidance significantly the essays are important not only for what they say about remedies but also for the attention they give to the nature of the new privacy actions providing deep insights into substantive law the book includes contributions by academics practitioners and judges from australia canada england new zealand and the united states who are expert in the legal disciplines implicated by privacy remedies including torts equity public law and conflict of laws by bringing together this range of perspectives the book offers authoritative insights into this cutting edge topic it will be essential reading for all those seeking to understand and resolve the new issues associated with privacy remedies the report follows 8 months of national consultations through an online survey individuals and organisations had the opportunity to provide comments on potential law reform topics and make their own suggestions about areas of law they believe are in need of reform over 400 people completed the survey the alrc has also been holding consultations with key stakeholders and conducting public seminars sentencing in all australian jurisdictions is now largely governed by legislation which prescribes some basic guidelines and principles at the same time the high court and the state appeal courts have been more active in developing a sentencing jurisprudence effectively standardising many of the core principles of sentencing law however judges and magistrates retain a wide discretion in almost every case and lawyers argue many different often disparate and sometimes inherently complex factors the authors of this book burrow through the maze of developing sentencing law to isolate explain and critique the principles which operate across and between jurisdictions they identify the key themes analyse examples from the different jurisdictions and examine the exercise of judicial discretion both in the scope of factors that may be taken into account and in the choice of sanctions
