this title was first published in 2002 the premise of the text is that there is a continuing need for biblical hermeneutic proposals and frameworks which emerge from the fields of both feminism and christian theology feminism the author asserts demands not only the plotting of new routes but the restructuring of entire landscapes as such this project since it seeks to develop a feminist theological frame for meaning impinges on and is impacted by innumerable inter relating questions in consequence the scope of the book is necessarily both broad and interdisciplinary the author j annine jobling uses particular texts and has articulated her own positions in response in this way the embodied practice of thinking in relation is mirrored in the texts produced this has determined the macro structure of the thesis which is based on an analysis of two feminist biblical scholars elisabeth schussler fionenza and phyllis trible from this analysis jobling identifies two primary principles for interpretation remembrance and destabilization this is a strategy which allows both materialist and post structuralist perspectives to be set into play each of which has vital contributions to make to feminist enterprises the bible is understood as matrix as a set of discourses which are permeable to and intersect with other cultural discourses the task of feminist interpretation is then to reconstitute the heterogenous biblical matrix in feminist horizons a fundamental tenet of the book is that hermeneutics inhabits particular metaphysical constructs therefore the argument extends from an interpretation of the bible to an epistemological framework in which an eschatological hereneutic is recommended to a metaphysical framework which takes eschatology as its structuring principle the author argues that it is eschatology which can provide the resources for an ontological model radically disruptive of a metaphysics of presence and in which it is possible to discern the traces of god from this outermost limit of the author's hermeneutic investigations the text returns to the centre the feminist discursive community and develops a construct that the ekklesia as a feminist deliberative space set oppositionally to structures worldviews and ideologies operates on patriarchal logics the relationship of this imagined community is compared to the christian church and scripture ethics and gendered identity within a logic of equity frieden explores methods of dream interpretation in the bible the talmud and in the writings of sigmund freud and brings to light freud's troubled relationship to his judaic forerunners this book reveals unfamiliar associations in intellectual history and challenges received ideas in biblical talmudic and freudian scholarship freud distanced himself from dream interpreters such as joseph and daniel by rejecting their intuitive methods and their claims to predict the future while biblical and talmudic dream interpretation generally involve prophecy freud sought to limit himself to the determination of prior causes in the dreamer's life nevertheless frieden demonstrates that freud's strategies of interpretation and especially his use of free association inevitably guide the dreamer toward a future this resonance between ancient prophecy and modern psychology is merely one example of the concealed relationship between judaic and psychoanalytic dream interpretation frieden shows the role both of actual influences and influences denied by freud
