please note this is a companion version not the original book sample book insights 1 the war against pandemics took a personal turn for me and my husband tom when we were infected with the superbug tomcat we found out that there were no approved treatment options for the disease 2 tom and i were globetrotting scientists who went looking for trouble in the world of infectious diseases we had been planning our dream vacation but after the attacks on sharm el sheikh and paris even well traveled friends raised their eyebrows when we told them we were skipping their invitations to visit the pyramids 3 we had always enjoyed spontaneity and we liked to meet nature on its own terms we were married in a civil ceremony at a beach house in hawaii by our children we had met an egyptologist who would be our guide for the next week 4 the egyptians were very preoccupied with death and funeral preparation because they believed the spirit faced a perilous journey to reach the afterlife and settle in for eternity archives and emotions argues at its most fundamental level that emotions matter and have always mattered to both the people whose histories are documented by archives and to those working with the documents these contain this is the first study to put archivists and historians scholars and practitioners from different settings geographical provenance and stages of career in conversation with one another to examine the interplay of a broad range of emotions and archives traditional and digital from the eighteenth to the twenty first centuries across national and disciplinary borders drawing on methodologies from the history of emotions and critical archival studies this book provides an original analysis of two interconnected themes through a selected number of case studies the emotional dynamics affecting the construction and management of archives and the emotions and their effects on the people engaging with them such as archivists researchers and a broad range of communities its main message is that critically investigating the history and mechanics of emotions including their suppression and exclusion also being conscious of their effects on people and societies is essential to understanding how archives came to hold deep civic and ethical implications for both present and future this study thus establishes a solid base for future scholarship and interdisciplinary collaborations and challenges academic and non academic readers to think work and train new generations differently fully aware that past and present choices have and might again hurt inspire empower or silence modern historical study of the gospels seems to give us a new portrait of jesus every spring just in time for easter the more unusual the portrait the more it departs from the traditional view of jesus the more attention it gets in the popular media why are scholars so prone to fabricate a new jesus why is the public so eager to accept such claims without question what methods and assumptions predispose scholars to distort the record is there a more sober approach to finding the real jesus commenting on such recent releases as bart ehrman s misquoting jesus james tabor s the jesus dynasty michael baigent s the jesus papers and the gospel of judas for which he served as an advisory board member to the national geographic society craig evans offers a sane approach to examining the sources for understanding the historical jesus
