a story to be felt and not forgotten from the acclaimed author of dandelion clocks and violet ink it s a glorious summer and erin and martha are both stuck at oak hill home for the elderly erin is fed up no one is listening to her not her mum nor her dad nor her friends she does not want to spend the summer helping out in an old people s home martha is even more angry she doesn t want to be living in the home and she can t make herself understood at all misunderstood and feeling ignored by everyone they are equally frustrated by the situation but as erin learns to listen to martha she discovers some very important lessons about making her own voice heard im six years old and having a life crisis are you my mummy is the question i could never ask because i love both my mothers equally tyna the tiny one and bigga who is bigger i havent got a daddy either and it seems rude to ask this is a sharp and entertaining true story beginning in war torn london of how the author navigated her way through family passions and oddities secrets and multiple identities on the way she encounters a christmas pudding sent annually care of the bank of scotland sitting on a tutors cat during a cambridge university interview running the family corner shop as a school girl discovering a cache of beautiful postcards from all over europe and the seaside wedding of one of her mothers one of my mothers is has yet another stroke im by her side when the consultant points to a scar on her belly and asks her what it is silently she raises her hand and gestures towards me a caesarean section all those years ago i am her daughter we never speak of it after bigga and tyna died i begin a paper trail to find news of my father one morning i walk across westminster bridge to meet a half sister i have been an only child for 50 years over lunch i discover that i am the sixth of seven siblings born to four women and i have a famous swiss grandfather the book ends by tackling some questions im often asked such as were your mothers lesbians does a child need a father is the past good for you do therapists help what do you do when you find out that your whole life could be a lie a chilling family drama for fans of sue fortin louise candlish and sabine durrant s lie with me i talked to my mother the night she died losing myself in memories of when we were happiest together but i held one memory back and it surfaces now i see a green postbox and a small hand stretching up to its oblong mouth i am never sure whether that small hand is mine but if not mine whose louise redmond left ireland for london before she was twenty now more than two decades later her heart already breaking from a failing marriage she is summoned home her mother is on her deathbed and it is louise s last chance to learn the whereabouts of a father she never knew stubborn to the end marjorie refuses to fill in the pieces of her daughter s fragmented past then louise unexpectedly finds a lead a man called david prescott but is he really the father she s been trying to find and who is the mysterious little girl who appears so often in her dreams as each new piece of the puzzle leads to another question louise begins to suspect that the memories she most treasures could be a delicate web of lies
