With the English as additional language (EAL) population growing rapidly, it is essential that settings and schools meet individual learner needs and provide an inclusive culture where different languages, cultures and religions are accepted and celebrated. Packed with essential information on key theories and best practice and written in a highly readable style, this book aims to raise awareness of main issues and offer practical support for practitioners working with children with EAL, covering a wide range of topics such as new arrivals, working with parents, assessment, planning, resourcing, play, communication and language. Each chapter clearly lays out the key concepts, ideas and strategies alongside examples of good practice, encouraging a reflective approach. The book features checklists, diagrams, chapter objectives and summaries and suggestions for further reading, case studies to illustrate practice, reflective activities to develop critical thinking, challenging many assumptions and stereotypes about EAL learners. This invaluable text will support students and practitioners in meeting the individual needs of all the children in their care.

Doing Diversity Differently in a Culturally Complex World explores the challenges facing multicultural education in the 21st century. It argues that the ideas fashioned in 1970s multiculturalism are no longer adequate for the culturally complex world in which we now live. Much multicultural education celebrates superficial forms of difference and avoids difficult questions around culture in an age of transnational flows and hybrid identities. Megan Watkins and Greg Noble explore the understandings of multiculturalism that exist amongst teachers, parents and students; they demonstrate that ideas around culture and identity don't match the complexities of the social contexts of schooling in migrant-based nations such as Australia, the UK, the USA, Canada and New Zealand. Doing Diversity Differently in a Culturally Complex World draws on comprehensive research undertaken in Australian schools; it examines how a diverse range of schools address the challenges that superdiversity poses, considering how the strengths and limitations of each school's approach reflect wider logics of traditional multiculturalism. In contrast, the authors argue for a transformative multiculturalism involving a critically reflexive approach to understanding the processes, relations and identities of the contemporary world. With a foreword by Fazal Rivzi, Emeritus Professor, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, USA, and Professor of Global Studies in Education, University of Melbourne, Australia.
