wittgenstein s mistress is a novel unlike anything david markson or anyone else has ever written before it is the story of a woman who is convinced and astonishingly will ultimately convince the reader as well that she is the only person left on earth presumably she is mad and yet so appealing is her character and so witty and seductive her narrative voice that we will follow her hypnotically as she unloads the intellectual baggage of a lifetime in a series of irreverent meditations on everything and everybody from brahms to sex to heidegger to helen of troy and as she contemplates aspects of the troubled past which have brought her to her present state obviously a metaphor for ultimate loneliness so too will her drama become one of the few certifiably original fictions of our time the novel i liked best this year said the washington times upon the book s publication one dizzying delightful funny passage after another wittgenstein s mistress gives proof positive that the experimental novel can produce high pure works of imagination

why are some versions of the collective we admired and desired while other versions are scorned and feared a body of individuals the paradox of community in contemporary fiction examines the conflict over the collective we through discourses of community in the discourse of benevolent community community is a tool towards achieving healing productiveness and connection in the discourse of dissenting community community that serves a function is simply another name for totalitarianism instead community must merely be a fact of coexistence what are the sources and the appeal of these irreconcilable views of community and how do they interact in contemporary fiction's attempt at imagining we by engaging contemporary u s writers such as toni morrison richard powers karen tei yamashita lydia davis lynne tillman and david markson with theorists such as jean luc nancy giorgio agamben françois lyotard ernesto laclau louis althusser roland barthes and ludwig wittgenstein this book reveals how the two conflicting discourses of community benevolent and dissenting are inextricably intertwined in various literary visions of we we of the family of the world of the human and of coexistence these literary visions demonstrate in a way that popular visions of community and postmodern theories of community cannot the dialectical relationship between the discourses of benevolent community and dissenting community sue im lee argues that contemporary fiction's inability to resolve the paradox results in a model of ambivalent community one that offers unique insights into community and into the very notion of unity
