this study presents the religious factor in the development of a separatistic group identity among the forebears of the afrikaners during the dutch colonial period of south african history dutch reformed covenant theology and baptism practice rooted in the thousand generation covenant theory helped to shape this self understanding it traces the basic developments of covenant theology in the netherlands during the period and demonstrates how these concepts were conveyed to colonial south africa the dominant strain of covenantal thought treated the entire community as redeemed and called to be separate it was presented through a variety of means through which virtually every colonist was exposed this study offers a balanced historical approach to the role of theological concepts in the colonial roots of afrikaner group identity it answers traditional scholarship in the field which either directly identify the concepts behind the development of apartheid with calvinist theology or more recently deny that the reformed faith had any role in the development of apartheid ideology until the twentieth century the history of newspaper advertising began in the seventeenth century low countries the newspaper publishers of the dutch republic were the first to embrace advertisements decades before their peers in other news markets in europe in this survey arthur der weduwen and andrew pettegree have brought together the first 6 000 advertisements placed in dutch and flemish newspapers between 1620 and 1675 provided here in an english translation and accompanied by seven indices this work provides for the first time a complete overview of the development of newspaper advertising and its impact on the dutch book trade economy and society in these evocative announcements ranging from advertisement for library auctions the publication of new books pamphlets and maps to notices of crime postal schedules or missing pets the seventeenth century is brought to life this survey offers a unique perspective on daily life personal relationships and societal change in the dutch golden age the present volume is the first anthology devoted to the icelandic theologian and religious author magn[?] s eir[?] ksson 1806 81 a forgotten contemporary of s[?] ren kierkegaard in golden age denmark with his remarkably modern views thoughts and ideas of society politics and religion eir[?] ksson has taken on the role of a widely unknown pioneer in various contexts as early as in his debut book on baptists and infant baptism 1844 eir[?] ksson made a name for himself as a devoted advocate of tolerance and freedom of thought and conscience in matters of religion although eir[?] ksson s numerous and multifaceted writings provoked a wide spectrum of reactions by members of the danish society the central figures at that time constantly took care to avoid engaging eir[?] ksson or his ideas in public debate and instead met him with lofty silence the present volume aims to end this silence which has continued after eir[?] ksson s death and it marks the beginning of a serious discussion of eir[?] ksson s works and ideas the articles featured in this anthology are written by international scholars from different fields with its strategic organization the collection covers the key topics of eir[?] ksson s writings and provides insights into his historical cultural background understanding eir[?] ksson s polemics with his copenhagen contemporaries such as hans lassen martensen henrik nicolai clausen n f s grundtvig and s[?] ren kierkegaard on some of the main theological issues of the day sheds light on the period as a whole and provides a new perspective on the complex and diverse discussions concerning religion in the golden age
