prepared by Joseph F. Michlitsch, Southern Illinois University. This instructor's manual provides faculty the support they need to teach the text material. Each chapter includes objectives, an overview, brief and extended outlines, suggested answers to review questions, discussion questions, and ethics take-a-stand questions. Teaching notes for thinking critically, experiential exercises capturing the power of information technology, ethics take-a-stand, the video case, and the end-of-chapter case. It also includes a guide to teaching introduction to management in large classes and a set of additional exercises and cases.

This book about teaching virtues is based on a fundamental American Indian view that sees the universe as intimate relationships of living things that are vitally affected by attributes called universal virtues. These virtues cross all boundaries and cannot be taught in isolation; they are woven into all subjects that are worth learning. Part 1 provides psychological perspectives that underpin the book's approach. Part 2 shows how various pedagogical strategies can turn subject matter into significant relationships since teaching virtues is ultimately about relationships. A natural way to embed awareness of virtues unfolds when there is a consistent commitment to teaching virtues. Daily chapters introduce the lesson plan format and the conceptual model, explore the meanings of vital terminology, and discuss assessment strategies. Part 3 realizes the actual interconnections between virtues and content knowledge with chapters that address social studies, language arts, science, physical education, mathematics, and the arts. These chapters show how the process works to truly integrate content and character education. Part 4 offers an opportunity for profound reflection on the issues and challenges surrounding effective character education. Contains 75 references.
