a complete and informed guide to the british great war memorials on the western front this book is an invaluable historical and practical guide published by the memorial museum passchendaale in 2016 in dutch as bouwen aan het front this book examines how the german army developed field fortifications to hold what can loosely be described as the ypres front with the decision by falkenhayn in 1915 to concentrate germanys offensive efforts largely in the east the german defenders around ypres set to developing their lines for semi permanent occupation the sub soil around the salient generally made it difficult to construct and maintain mined i e deep dugouts unlike on for example the somme with easily worked chalk not far below the surface the only practicable alternative was to use reinforced concrete in this book the authors both with many years of experience in researching and working on matters great war particularly the german army in belgium have examined in detail an impressive range of primary sources to provide a narrative of what the germans built how they built it the logistical challenge was enormous and how the designs and requirements of bunkers for example forward medical bunkers artillery shelters machine gun and observation bunkers changed as the war progressed and as the military situation on the front dictated there are many photographs largely unseen by british readers design diagrams and maps to supplement the text whilst the activities of selected particular formations are examined in detail to provide an example of the effort that was put into the work additions to the dutch edition will include a tours section taking a visitor to accessible remaining structures in the salient area and a glossary of terms and their english equivalent the book will be in full color throughout we learn three things whenever we travel first we learn something about other places second we learn something about other people third we learn something about ourselves this is what armand moncaide discovered when he embarked on a trip around europe from the sun drenched plains of spain to the snow capped alps towering over switzerland from the grandeur of london and paris to the romance of rome and venice armand learns the meaning of the phrase only by getting lost can we begin to find ourselves because the truth is there really is no place like home living with history focuses on a particular aspect of heritage preservation in the twentieth century destruction and postwar reconstruction in belgium france germany great britain and the netherlands this book establishes a status quaestionis for the historiography of wartime and postwar preservation and sets these particular developments in preservation history in the context of the general evolution of architecture and urbanism the authors investigate the specific role of conservationists and heritage institutions and administrations in the overall reconstruction and examine the part played by architects and planners in heritage preservation
