in search of the afropolitan explores human encounters and moments that speak to the challenges of being a 21st century african of the world against the background of an engaging evaluation of the heated debate on afropolitanism and what constitutes an afropolitan the authors turn to literature and its intrinsic capacity for unfolding the human figure of the african as inherently complex and multidimensional through a detailed probing of the afropolitan in literary narratives the book enters into conversations about self understanding and the signification of africa in the contexts of global mobility the book conceives of afropolitanism as a flexible space of inquiry that curbs the inclination to set the definition of the ism in stone instead it attempts to distil through close up character analyses a multifarious sense of what it means to be afropolitan in the contemporary moment in that sense the encounters we come across in the literary narratives produce unexpected ontological negotiations on what it means to be african in the world today as a special feature of in search of the afropolitan the authors conversations with prominent writers thinkers and critics provide a lively context for the ongoing debate on afropolitanism and the afropolitan traditions and cultures represent a set of persisting or prevailing beliefs social practices oral linguistic and values that define an individual s way of life in other words in memoir writing the emphasis is often to propagate a unilateral need or embrace of self identity however the dominant narrative and method of analysis in this study holds the notion and privileges that tradition and cultures imbibed by memoirists are sometimes subverted refashioned or reworked due to the strand of experiences or realities they encounter in different spaces as their narration develops thus memoirists embrace indifference and open mindedness which is also greatly explored in the context of autobiography ghana has been a crucial site of encounters between the west and africa and a historic center for twentieth century pan african independence movements today it has also emerged as an important node of technology driven development in the global south ghana s activist software developers and digital diaspora are redefining the role of technology not simply as a means for economic growth but as a tool for greater african political autonomy in this rich ethnography reginald a royston uses the term pan african futurism to describe the redemptive ethos among technologists working on development projects on the ground in africa today royston charts the explosion of mobile internet access on the african continent growing interest in african tech entrepreneurship and the flowering of digital transnational ties ghana s pan african futurists advocate entrepreneurship and civil society activism as a means of hacking the kinds of socioeconomic development that have long been advocated by ngos using participant observation and interviews with tech developers on the ground and media producers in the diaspora including in virtual spaces and with communities online royston provides a nuanced portrait of tech users focused on social good emanating from the global south expanding the discourse for contemporary pan african politics

2023 choice outstanding academic title memories of africa home and abroad in the united states suggests a new lens for viewing african diaspora studies the experiences of african memoirists who live in the united states the book shows how african diaspora memoirs beautifully and grippingly depict the experiences of african migrants over time through political social and cultural spheres in reading african diaspora memoirs from the transatlantic slave trade period to the present a reader can understand the complexity of the african migrant legacy and evolution author toyin falola argues that memoirs are significant not only in their interpretation of events conveyed by the memoirists but also in demonstrating how interpersonal and human the stories told can be memoirs are powerful because they are emotionally captivating and because important themes and events circulate around a particular person in this case the memoirist undoubtedly a memoir is significant because it can teach anyone about a part of the human experience even if the facts are not described without bias through this sort of narrative the reader cannot help but enter into the memoirist s mind and therefore feel more empathy for them in doing so the reader can feel what the memoirist feels and see what the memoirist sees as clearly as is humanly possible in this way the historical events and life lessons become tangible and poignantly real to the reader youth programs in art museums examines the processes and motivation behind the creation of thoughtful offerings for youth audiences by museums around the world with over 50 contributors representing 20 countries the book considers how museums can be relevant to youth audiences through the development and implementation of programs that respond to their interests and needs and are grounded in cultural contexts program outcomes explored include developing young artists civic engagement lgbtqia advocacy and multiple language learners as a whole the volume demonstrates how museums are creating engaging enriching programs that enable youth to more deeply understand themselves their culture and the world around them the editors and contributors show that if museums can plan and deliver the right kind of offerings they will find that youth are curious creative and resilient they will also discover that youth have the potential to become lifelong engaged participants in their own art culture and communities in turn helping museums to be more inclusive responsive and community oriented youth programs in art museums will appeal to academics and students engaged in the study of museums art and education it will also be of interest to museum professionals as well as professionals interested in working with youth in after school settings
